

The First Nepalese Translation of The Holy Quran

The whole Quran translation into Nepalese has been made for the first time. Parts of the Quran have been made so far in Nepal where about 2 million Muslims live. But this year, the translation of the Quran is completed thanks to the project launched five years ago by Islami Sangh Nepal organization which is the biggest Islamic organization in Nepal. The complete translation comprises a total of 1,168 pages. Nepalese Muslims, taking the first copies of the Quran in Nepalese, are expressing their happiness.
