

PANDA SKULL

This fossil shows that pandas have always existed as pandas, and also totally refutes the idea of the evolution of living things. To date, they never have found one single fossil indicating the supposed ancestor of the panda or that indicates that pandas underwent various intermediate stages before attaining their present-day form. No matter how old, every single panda fossil unearthed discovered has exactly the same characteristics as those possessed by present-day pandas. Darwinists are completely helpless in the face of this reality.
